The Greater New York Construction User Council (GNYCUC) honored the Naftali Group as its 2017 Developer of the Year during a reception held in the penthouse of The Shephard at 275 West 10th Street. John Pierce, GNYCUC's chairman and vice president of Design & Construction at Rockefeller Group, said West Village condo was one of 14 projects completed by the Naftali Group in the last five years, including six condominiums, two ground-up multi-family developments and the Pace University dormitory, also recognized as the world's tallest college residence. Naftali Group's executive vice president of construction Michael Witek, executive vice president of marketing & design Matthew Van Damm and manager of marketing & design Danielle Naftali accepted the award on behalf of founder Miki Naftali.
